

Question

What is Conservation Breeding?
Why is it essential?

Answer

- Breeding at-risk breeds to avoid their extinction
- Ensure the limited genetic diversity within the breed is preserved and propagated for future generations

Question

How can I contribute?

Answer

- Register your goats
- Develop thoughtful breeding programs
- Make essential goats available for breeding, swap, or sale
- Participate in a line preservation project

Question

How can I make Conservation Breeding profitable?

Answer

- Creating a name for your farm & herd - tested, registered, thoughtfully bred & evaluated
- Offering limited genetics

Question

Want more info?

Answer

- Follow the San Clemente Island Goat Breeders Association on social media
- Check out our website at scigba.org
- Contact us about helping in the effort